

Your Global Partner for Riser Protection and Configuration Management

Distributed Buoyancy Modules

Typically distributed buoyancy modules (DBMs) are attached to risers connected between a subsea structure and a surface vessel or platform.

DBMs are used to control and manage riser position and behavior in the water column. They are used on many types of risers including production, water injection, gas lift, umbilicals and power or FO cables.

to learn more visit us at:
www.trelleborg.com/offshore/risers